

TAACL: A Framework for Success

Oakland Schools AAC Team

Is visible language coupled with Aided Language Input (ALI) being used to demonstrate receptive and expressive language

This tool is designed to assist you in assessing the provision for aided language input in the communication environment

Implementation Toolbox: Aided Language Input	Not Yet	Some of the Time	Most of the Time	All of the time
Who is using ALI? All staff uses aided language input (ALI) to model language.
What communicative functions are being targeted using ALI ? ALI is being used to demonstrate a variety of communicative functions
What language targets are being highlighted using ALI? ALI is being used to intentionally highlight specific vocabulary and language targets (Grammar, word classes, utterance length)
When is ALI happening? ALI is being used during meaningful exchanges, across contexts and activities
Where is ALI happening? ALI is being used across environments in naturally occurring communicative exchanges.				